I hereby make application to the City of Bartlett for a special event temporary beer permit.

The signing of this application acknowledges that I am aware of the laws prohibiting the sale of beer to minors.

I hereby certify that no person having at least 5% ownership interest, nor any person to be employed in the distribution or sale of beer in my organization has been convicted of any violation of the beer or alcoholic beverage laws or any crime involving moral turpitude within the past 10 years.

I understand that making false statement in this application shall precipitate forfeiture of permit and holder shall not be eligible to receive any permit for a period of ten years.

I understand that by submitting this application, a background investigation shall be conducted on the applicant.

I am also aware that I shall not be issued a permit or my permit shall be revoked if my event causes traffic congestion or interferes with schools, churches, or other public places of public gathering, or otherwise interferes with public health, safety and morals.

3. Or it's the other driver's insurance company. They're just calling to "get your side of the story." They'd like to record it, if that's okay.

It is not okay.

Proverbs 17:28 says, "Even a fool is thought wise if he keeps silent." That ancient wisdom applies with remarkable precision to personal injury claims in 2026.

Here's what that friendly adjuster isn't telling you. They are trained professionals whose job — whose only job at that moment — is to protect the insurance company's money. The recorded statement they're asking for is not an opportunity for you to clear the air. It is a tool.

to 12 hours. Adrenaline masks pain. Soft tissue injuries, herniated discs, even milder traumatic brain injuries — these frequently don't declare themselves until days later. If you've already told the adjuster you feel "okay" or "a little sore," you've handed them exactly what they need to devalue your claim.

You have no legal obligation to give a recorded statement to the other driver's insurance company. None.

What you do have is the right to counsel. Before you say a word, seek medical and call a lawyer who focuses on injury law, and that you can trust.

Over 30 years of representing injured people across West Tennessee has taught me one consistent truth: some of the most expensive words my clients be accessed.
